Homes and Other Buildings Also Suffer from Shortage. Shorter Hours in Two Schools.

The oil situation is acute, says Superintendent of Schools Clifford W. Hall, in the schools which are heated with oil. These are the Brackett School and the new portion of the High School. In order to conserve fuel the High School, beginning today, will open at 8:45 instead of at 8:15 for a temporary period.

At the Brackett School for the time being there will be one session, from nine to one. As the other schools are heated with coal they present no problems.

1942 BUILDING LOWEST IN YEARS

Building in Arlington sank in 1942, if not to a new low at least to the lowest point in many years. The total value of buildings erected during the year, according to the records of the Building Department, over which Paul H. Mossman presides, was $132,709, less than half that of 1941, and lower than in 1918, the last year of the first World War. Then it was $201,000. During the depression the lowest point—$316,000—was in 1934.

Of course the cause was the government ban on building, together with priorities in essential building materials.

From January when the permits had a value of $46,700, to December, when it was $1,037, was a sharp drop. In the other months permits were issued as follows: February, $2,805; March, $13,663; April, $15,935; May, $10,747; June, $8,693; July, $8,629; August, $8,150; September, $5,363; October, $8,167; and November, $2,820.

Only nine houses—eight one-family and one two-family—were built during the year and nine garages. The largest number of permits was issued for reroofing dwellings, 126, and the next largest for additions and alterations, 52. Other permits were for playhouses, hen houses and tool houses.

MRS. JOHN BARRY DROWNS IN UPPER MYSTIC LAKE

Funeral Mass for Sister of Tokio Bomber at St. James' Church Tuesday Morning.

Mrs. Mary C. Barry, the wife of John D. Barry, Jr., of 4 Beck road, and sister of Lieut. Eugene McGurl who was decorated for his daring exploit in bombing Tokio, was drowned last Saturday afternoon when she crashed through thin ice on the Upper Mystic Lake. Mrs. Barry, who was on a skating party with her husband, disappeared beneath the ice about fifty feet off Robinson's point.

Her husband crashed through in an unsuccessful attempt to rescue her. Reaching shore with the help of two boys, he called police and firemen. Mrs. Barry's body was recovered after dragging the lake for an hour but fire and policemen working over her with a pulmotor failed to revive her. Mr. Barry was taken to the Symmes Hospital in the Winchester police ambulance for treatment.

Turn in Collection of Pennies for War Effort

Carolyn Faith and Phyllis Jean Aroian, the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. John Aroian of 51 Milton street, have stopped collecting pennies and have turned over more than three thousand toward the purchase of two twenty-five dollar War Bonds—the object of their penny drive. Their father, chief clerk of the custodian service in charge of the Federal Building made up the difference for them.

They gave up collecting before their objective was reached because of the president's request that pennies should not be saved so that the government might reclaim as much copper as possible.

In a recent issue of the Boston Herald the little girls were pictured pouring the pennies from a gallon jug.

WARRANT OPEN FOR TOWN MEETING

At their Monday evening meeting the Selectmen opened the warrant for the annual election and Town Meeting. The election this year falls on the first of March. The Town Meeting has been set for Friday the twelfth instead of, as usual, on Wednesday, since this year the Wednesday (March 10th) of the week after election is Ash Wednesday. The change has been made so that the meeting may not conflict with religious services.

The warrant closes January 25th. All desiring articles in the warrant must file them with the Selectmen before that date, when the Selectmen will meet to draw up the warrant.

Monday Night Club Has Twelfth Dance

Service men from the Bedford Airport, the Army Base and the Hotel Brunswick, where the Coast Guard is stationed, attended the New Year's party given Monday evening in the Universalist parish house by the Monday Night Club. This was the twelfth dance the club has given.

TO COLLECT TIN CANS WEEK OF JANUARY 18th

Tin Can Collection begins Monday, January 18. The cans should be placed in a separate container and put at the curb on the regular rubbish collection day.

Due to the holiday and the small amount collected in November, the December collection was cancelled. It is hoped that the January collection will reach the figure for September, when 40,000 pounds of tin cans were collected in Arlington.

The cans should be prepared by cleaning, removing top, bottom, and label, and crushing. In each ton of tin cans properly prepared and made available to the War Effort, the salvage would amount to at least 20 pounds of vital tin and about 2,000 pounds of prime steel scrap. Both of these items are desperately needed for successful prosecution of the war.

Do your part by salvaging your tin cans and have them ready for collection the week beginning January 18 on your regular rubbish collection day, says Salvage Chairman Joseph Beyins.

A Pledge Renewed

IN NORMAL TIMES it is customary for business, at the turn of the year, to enumerate its noteworthy achievements for the previous twelve months and to comment on its prospects for the coming year. But for more than a year this country has been an active participant in a global war which exceeds in magnitude and importance any other war.

The transcendent importance of victory for the United Nations renders the achievements of a single business of very small moment. Success or failure of any business for the duration will be measured in terms of its contribution to the great collective war effort. No individual achievement will be considered a success unless it has contributed to the advancement of the greatest cause in all history — Victory for the United Nations.

This objective should be and must be the "be-all" and "end-all" of every activity until victory is gained. Everything must be done that will help, and nothing must be done that will hinder, the early attainment of this result. This means the subordination of every other interest to the war effort.

Our fighting men, many of our great business enterprises, and large numbers of civilians have made the all-out conversion and subordination to the war effort. Their sacrifices and efforts have staved off defeat during the critical months of 1942. But the efforts and sacrifices of only part of this nation will not be sufficient for victory. Nothing short of an all-out effort of everyone and every business will suffice to overcome the desperate efforts of our enemies.

The sacrifices of our fighting men on land, on sea, and in the air impose on the rest of us a solemn and patriotic obligation to declare moratoria for at least the duration, on all prejudices, interests and activities which may detract from the war effort.

It seems untimely, if not almost treasonable, for individuals or groups of individuals to be taking advantage of this crisis to advance some selfish interest, not only irrelevant to the present great objective, but in many cases actually impeding the efforts of our armed forces.

The price of victory is going to be high — in lives, in money, and in sacrifices. But the price of defeat would be incalculable!

The United Nations up to date have been on the defensive. Now, for the first time, they are on the offensive. Now is the time for everyone who has victory for the United Nations at heart to make this all-out conversion and subordination to the war effort. Victory in Europe in 1943 is not only a hope — it is a possibility. It can become an actuality if all make the necessary sacrifices.

Boston Edison Company, in its annual report to stockholders dated February 24, 1942, made this pledge:—

Until this war has been brought to a successful conclusion, the interests of our country and its allies transcend any and all other interests. Therefore, during this extreme emergency, the entire resources of your Company, animate and inanimate, must be devoted primarily and unstintingly to cooperation with and acceleration of the great war effort. In doing this, however, neither inconvenience nor sacrifice should be imposed unnecessarily or ruthlessly upon our customers, employees, or stockholders. Their interests must be given every consideration consistent with the Company's primary obligation to the country.

During 1942 the war effort has had prior claim on all facilities and resources of Boston Edison Company. Every requirement made on our system has been met. While our own personnel had much to do with this accomplishment, it would have been difficult if not impossible without the valuable aid and cooperation of the Governor of the Commonwealth, the Mayor of Boston, the mayors and selectmen of other cities and towns, the Massachusetts Department of Public Utilities and other governmental authorities, the Army and Navy personnel, and the suppliers of coal and other materials and equipment.

We acknowledge with appreciation the assistance given to us in meeting our problems. On the threshold of the New Year, Boston Edison Company renews the pledge it made at the beginning of 1942.

Gets Word of Brother From Lt. Com. Morrill

The following is a copy of a letter received by Mrs. W. Parker Wood of 74 Appleton street, in answer to an inquiry made by her concerning her brother, Chief Quartermaster Roy L. Morrissette, reported missing by the Navy Department following the fall of Corregidor. Lt. Commander Morrill, whose thrilling story of his escape to Australia in a small launch is running currently in the Saturday Evening Post under the title "Eighteen Men and a Boat", was kind enough to take time from his own Christmas day to write the letter which gives to Morrissette's family the first definite information they have had concerning him since the beginning of the war. It leaves no further doubt but that he was taken prisoner by the Japs. An effort is being made to ascertain his present whereabouts through the Geneva International Red Cross.

5934 Jefferson Street Philadelphia, Pa. December 25, 1942

Dear Mrs. Wood:

Your letter addressed to the Post was forwarded to me. In reply to your questions:

Your brother was not the chief Quartermaster to whom we referred in the story, but strangely enough he did come out to the boat that night along with Himmel, the one mentioned in the story. Your brother gave his watch to Stringer, and Himmel gave his to me. Both of them were anxious not to have their watches fall into the hands of the Japs. We noticed that your brother's watch was a family heirloom, so Stringer said that he would be sure to send it to Mrs. Morrissette, which I presume he has done.

We all feel badly about those who didn't come along with us. Stringer was a good friend of your brother's, and feels particularly badly about him. He (Stringer) has said so many times that he wished that he had grabbed your brother and dragged him along whether he wanted to come or not, for he was sure that he would have gotten over his feelings. The chief difficulty was that all the officers there that day and night were dead against our idea of escape, and said we were absolute fools. Your brother admired particularly our executive officer, and I feel that it was he (the executive officer) and also that Tanager officer, who talked your brother out of the idea. Under the circumstances we did not feel justified in taking anyone who didn't want to go with us, but we feel now that many others might have escaped with us if only we had forced them to go along.

But you must not let the idea that those who remained were not brave, for they were. Your brother was exceptionally brave throughout the war. We picked him up, together with a lot of his Bittern shipmates early in the war, when the Bittern was wrecked in the bombing of Cavite. We already had one chief Quartermaster aboard, so your brother took charge of one anti-aircraft gun when we were in action, and stood Officer of the Deck watches besides. He had the deck

What You Buy With WAR BONDS

A pelorus, used by the Navy, is a device which fits over the surface of a compass to enable the operator to take bearings on distant objects. It has split hair sights, has been in use for many years . . . and costs approximately $125.

These instruments are essential equipment to every American ship which comes out of the shipyards. With the scores of ships now being completed each month, we need many of these instruments. Your purchase of War Bonds and Stamps will help pay for them. Invest at least ten percent of your income every payday in these interest bearing Government securities.

LATIN FIRST TO DEFEAT HIGH SCHOOL PUCK CHASERS

Arlington Shares League Pinnacle with Two Rivals.

Cambridge Latin, handing the Arlington High School hockey sextet its first defeat of the season—1-0 at the Garden last Saturday—failed to topple them from the top of the Greater Boston League. The results of Saturday's games did, however, put two other teams in a tie for top with Arlington. They are Melrose and Stoneham.

The goal that threatens the locals' lead did not come until the third period, the first two having been uneventful with neither score nor penalty. When Bill Maher, early in the fateful period, drew a penalty, the Arlington ice cutters made a try for a goal. It was interrupted and Wholey, Latin left wing, passed up to Heaven who, off to a flying start, went through the defense and got a closeup shot past Goalie Ike Bevins.

On the heels of this goal, Jim Feloney joined mate Maher in the penalty box, making Latin two men shy for a space, but the Cantabs survived that session and held on from there in. The summary:

LATIN—Earrest, g; Maher, rd; Zabinski, ld; Heaven, c; Reardon, rw; Wholey, lw.
ARLINGTON—Bevins, g; McElaney, rd; Connolly, ld; Massucco, c; Colley, rw; Malone, lw.

Arlington Spares—Wells, Byrnes, Reycoff, Fife, Sheehan.

liked to hear more—and on the artists she had assembled.

These were Frederick Koerner, first violin, an Austrian who had studied in Vienna; Albert Nauen, piano, a Hamburg business man who had made music his hobby; Hans Wohlell, cello, from Hamburg, a student at M. I. T., and George Weiss, viola, also an Austrian who had studied in Vienna.

The selections were a Sonata for two violins by Handel in four movements—Andante, Allegro, Largo and Finale—played by Mr. Koerner and Mrs. Spence with Mr. Nauen at the piano, and a string quartet by Haydn in four movements—Presto, Andante, Cantabile, Minuetto and Scherzando.

As the soprano who had been announced as a soloist was suffering with laryngitis, Miss Gratia Eagleston sang a group of three songs—"The Night Has a Thousand Eyes", Townsend; "The Nightingale Has a Lyre of Gold", Whelpley, and "The Time for Making Songs Has Come", Rogers. She was accompanied by Mrs. Alma W. Allen, who is the society's regular accompanist.

Mrs. Rodney Sage, who is chairman of the chamber concerts, welcomed the guests and thanked the performers. At the close of the program there was a very pleasant social hour during which dainty sandwiches and coffee were served by a committee headed by Mrs. Preston Ware.

HIGH BASKETEERS DEFEAT BROOKLINE BY ONE POINT

Arlington High's basketball quintet, playing in the home gym on Tuesday evening, defeated the Brookline team by one point, 27 to 26. Captain Burke made five of the twelve baskets, one for the deciding point, and tossed in two fouls in addition.

Down 6-12 in the middle of the second period, Arlington moved up to a 10-12 deficit at half time, and then, beginning to click as its superior weight told on the lighter Brookline boys, moved out to a 25-19 third-period lead. Then, after Brookline pulled together and climbed up to a 25-24 count, Capt. Burke sank the rebound of his missed foul shot and that offset a later Brookline tally. In the closing seconds, Burke kept his head, and refused to try a foul shot, taking a throw-in instead, midseason smart-stuff.

Brookline seconds put it all over Arlington seconds, 31 to 7. The summary:

the work, all strenuous and exciting.

Officer Paine was one of the first to graduate at Fort Des Moines, Iowa. She was formerly with the United States Employment Service in Rochester, and is now in the recruiting office in Boston. Any woman a citizen of the United States, between the ages of twenty and fifty, who has passed the test prescribed, will be pressed into service. The ages formerly were between twenty and forty-five. One has to produce satisfactory proof of date of birth and citizenship, be of excellent character, mentally alert and qualified in height, which is five feet minimum, six feet maximum. Officer Paine did not advise any one just five feet to apply, as the long hikes necessary in training, besides drill routine, make it difficult to keep step in all the workouts. Duty of the WAAC is twenty-four hours a day, seven days a week. A special word of commendation was given to the colored WAAC.

A fine beef stew was served at the noon hour; under the efficient luncheon committee, Mrs. Fitch, chairman.

through the cooperation of the Commandant, Colonel Cleary. The demands for the services of Major Laning have been so many that the local committee was elated to secure him. His experience and ability as a speaker insure an address rich in timely interest and human appeal. Roscoe Elliott, chairman of the local drive, will preside. He will present in addition to Major Laning other speakers including Brooks Potter, chairman of the Metropolitan Division; Charles Cabot, general chairman for the Greater Boston United War Fund Drive; and Harold Cahalin, president of the Arlington Community Chest.

The official United War Fund movies will provide a brief but vivid glimpse of numerous activities made possible only by such a drive. The film contains some unusual scenes. Music for the occasion is to be provided by the Arlington High School band, conducted by Augustus Mazzocco. Thus, the program has appeal to all.

A colorful spectacle is added by the usherettes who will be attired in the costumes of the countries that are being served by the Fund. The beauty as well as the traditions represented will lend to the meeting a very definite international flavor and will recall many neighbors in the widely separated parts of the globe. This emphasizes the scope of the area served by the drive, and shows that the boys serving on many fronts will be glad to know that their community is supporting them. Contributions this year will go further—not just to activities at home but also abroad for the men in service.

Boston opened her drive with an opening meeting in Symphony Hall. Arlington, not to be outdone, has planned a program that will be sure to move the drive into high gear right from the start. So Tuesday night the many volunteer workers will meet at the High School Auditorium at eight o'clock. Everyone is invited so plan to come. Such a program will present an appeal that citizens will respond to and thus make Arlington's campaign an overwhelming success.

Both are excellent, however, and both are deserving of support. Many workers will lend their efforts to both campaigns and Arlington will support both wholeheartedly.

Camp Fire Girls Send 'Cheer' to Men in Service

Camp Fire Girls, Horizon Clubs and Blue Birds in Greater Boston are "Spreading Cheer Throughout the Year" in 1943 by sending nearly 100 new subscriptions to popular magazines to U. S. servicemen in the camps and more lonely forts along the New England coast.

This was the girls' own project and they have been enthusiastic about earning these subscriptions for they will reach many of their brothers, fathers, relatives and friends, as well as thousands of other men now serving in the armed forces.

The Wetomachick group, under the guardianship of Mrs. Blake, voted to go without having a Christmas party and give their money to the boys in the service. Towanka girls, under the guardianship of Mrs. Webb, and Okiyama girls, Mrs. Cheney's group, likewise gave what they could to those who are doing a great deal for them. So-Tre-Say-Mo girls from Mrs. Ciccolo's group in East Arlington earned their money in many ways. Arlington had one Blue Bird group known as the Tulip group, under the leadership of Mrs. Brown, sharing in this project.

FOAMY SAUCE

Dorothy Greig

IF there's one time of year we pamper our liking for rich dark cake, it's during the holiday season. The rest of the year we may diet, we may look twice at every spoonful of sugar but during the holiday season we do crave cake.

Here is the recipe for just such a festive cake. Fresh from the oven, it breathes forth a delectable spicy fragrance and it looks rich and yummy. Tastes that way, too. Actually, however, it is rather modest restrained as to ingredients. Spices are supposed to be scarce but most people still seem to have on hand the ones suggested for this cake:

1 1/2 cups flour
1/2 teaspoon baking powder
1/2 teaspoon baking soda
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
1/2 teaspoon cloves
1/2 tablespoon shortening (1/2 butter)
1/2 cup sugar
1 egg
1 can new and improved condensed tomato soup

Mix flour, then measure, add the baking powder, soda and spices and sift again. Cream the shortening, add the sugar gradually and cream well. Then add the beaten egg. At the last add the flour mixture alternately with the tomato soup. Pour into a well-oiled 9 inch square baking pan. Bake in moderate oven (350°F.) for 30 to 40 minutes.

Mincemeat for Filling

Heat 1 1/2 cups mincemeat until the suet or fat has melted. To serve: Cut spice cake into approximately nine pieces. Split each piece and fill center with one spoonful of mincemeat. Replace the top half of cake and serve foamy sauce over the top. Apple sauce also makes a fine filling for this cake.

Foamy Sauce

1 egg, separated
1/2 cup powdered sugar
1/2 cup whipping cream
1 teaspoon lemon juice
Beat the egg white until stiff, then beat in the sugar gradually. Add the egg yolk and continue beating. Fold in the whipped cream at the last and then add the lemon juice.

*4 tablespoons strained honey may be substituted for sugar.

KEEP IT A SECRET

From the office of censorship in Washington, D. C., comes a warning that applies to individuals as well as to newspapers. "If you know what ship a sailor is on, or what company or regiment a soldier is with overseas, then you know a military secret," says the Office of Censorship.

"This secret ought not to be published. This is why: A general needs to know the strength of his opponent: how many men, guns, ships, planes there are in each theater of war."

"The Nazis and the Japs want to know these things about our forces. Their agents assemble the information like this: from one paper, an item reveals the 600th Infantry is in Australia; another, that the U. S. S. Wisconsin is in the Mediterranean; another, that the 206th Tank Battalion is in North Africa."

"Add hundreds of these bits of information together, and our enemies have a too-accurate estimate of American military strength."

"These are our soldiers—Americans, all—whom we endanger by these 'little slips.'"

"This is the information which newspapers and individuals are asked not to tell the enemy:

"DO NOT TELL the names of ships upon which sailors serve."

"DO NOT TELL the troop units in which soldiers serve overseas."

"There is no objection to revealing that Pvt. John Jones is in Australia or that Seaman Tom Brown saw action in the Atlantic, but there is military information which endangers the lives of American fighting men in stating that Pvt. John Jones, 'Company C, 600th Infantry,' is in Australia, or Seaman Tom Brown, 'Aboard the U. S. S. Wisconsin,' is in the Atlantic." "This is not a 'blackout' on the news about our soldiers. Considerable latitude in reporting personal experiences gives the enemy little military information, if the troop units, the ship names are kept secret. But in articles about soldiers and sailors and the addresses for them, don't give away their fighting units."

ON THE HOME FRONT

As the forces of the United Nations chip at many exposed points of the Axis prison walls enclosing millions of the oppressed, the starving, and tortured peoples of the world, we at home—even as our arms are beginning to be triumphant abroad—are faced by a severe test of our self-control and patriotism. It is not in the field of war production, in which already we surpass all our enemies, nor in buying war bonds, conducting salvage and other campaigns, nor in our response to civilian defense and the many other forms of community war activity.

The test will come during 1943 as we learn the war's hardest lesson for those at home—the lesson of doing without. True, we have experienced some discomforts, we have begun to lack some things once in common daily use, and have divided up the reduced supplies of other things by rationing. But on the whole, the goods and services we miss are only a small proportion of those we still enjoy.

NATIONAL HYMN

O God—bless our country, so great and so free!
With one heart we serve her from sea unto sea;
And shoulder to shoulder we stand in our might
For Union and Liberty, Freedom and Right!

O God—bless our dear flag of red, white and blue!
Fair emblem of all that is sacred and true.
Where'er floats the star-spangled banner on high,
Sweet freedom will live, and oppression must die!

Columbia's sons are defending today
"The faith of their fathers," in lands far away.
God give to the strong arm of Justice and Right,
A victory glowing with Liberty's light!

O help us to keep our high purpose in view,
And stain not the flag with an action untrue!
Forever unsullied its fair fame must be,
Republic America! Land of the free!

Savings Bank Insurance to Maintain Dividend Scale

Dividend rates on Savings Bank Life Insurance policies during the twelve months beginning February 1, 1943, will be maintained on the same basic scale as for 1942, it was announced today by Granville H. Beaver, president of the Savings Bank Life Insurance Council and treasurer of the Cambridge Savings Bank. As was the case in 1942, all but four of the thirty issuing banks will pay dividends at the basic scale. Premium rates will remain unchanged in 1943.

Total Savings Bank Life Insurance in force in Massachusetts on October 31, 1942, was at a new high of $222,750,339, an increase of approximately $13,679,000 from the figure of $209,080,341 at the close of the preceding year. Assets of the system increased to $41,828,763, a gain of $3,483,686 during the year.

"Savings Bank Life Insurance is cooperating wherever possible in furtherance of the nation's war effort," Mr. Beaver observed. "In particular, we are doing our part to help finance our government, and assist in combatting inflation, through purchase of government Bonds. As of October 31, 1942, 43.3 per cent of all system assets were invested in United States Government obligations, a substantial increase from the figure of 36.3 per cent at the close of the 1941 year."

the night Bataan fell, and had to watch all of that terrifying spectacle about which we could do so little.

Your brother had a little stomach trouble early in the war, but got over that all right and was in good physical condition when we left him. All that we ever heard while out there was to the effect that the Japs were treating our prisoners well and that they had enough to eat. We heard that our prisoners were put to work growing their own food. It is easy to grow things out there, so that they should be all right.

Hoping that this information will be of some consolation and that you will receive soon good news concerning your brother from the Red Cross, I am

Yours very truly,

66 deaths in town during 1872.

There were 45 marriages returned to the Town Clerk during 1872, an excess of 11 over the number in 1871.

We were pleased to meet one of the late small-pox patients on the street a day or two ago. He was bound to get well. No pest house for him.

Needed.—To supply a want long felt we need a new depot in Arlington. The present one is unhandy, small and every way inconvenient. A town of the importance of Arlington deserves better depot accommodations. A neat, tasty structure, with large well-lighted rooms and modern improvements ought to fill the position occupied by the dingy, uncomfortable building now in use.

Happy New Year.—1873 was pleasantly inaugurated by the children of the Unitarian Society on Wednesday evening. The gathering which was a large one took place in the vestry. The exercises consisted of music, a pantomime called "The Dancing Barber", and a supper.

Mr. Elbridge Farmer has presented the Robbins Library with two large and life-like crayon portraits, one of Mrs. Maria C. Robbins, his sister, and the other of her husband, Mr. Eli Robbins in whose memory the structure was erected.

A few days ago Mr. L. P. Bartlett started out with gun and cane, accompanied by his old fox hound, and after a short tramp through the woods in the rear of his place found fresh tracks of "Sir Reynaud" and started the old dog on the trail. With the skill of an old hunter Mr. Bartlett chose his position and had not long to wait before the sly game ran toward where the sportsman was concealed from view and fell a victim to Mr. B.'s unerring aim. Mr. Bartlett is past the four score line.

Although several skaters on Spy Pond got "duckings" last week and this by carelessness about going near shore where the ice had been "whipped out" by the wind, no serious accident occurred to mar the pleasure of the skaters.

At the meeting of the Boat Club last Monday evening, it was voted to enter Mr. J. F. Bacon, the champion fancy figure skater, in any contest he might be willing to engage in as representative of the Arlington Boat Club.

The class of 1917 of Arlington High School held a reunion in the hall of the High School building on Thursday evening, December 27, when they had as guests the faculty of the school. During the evening some of the young men entertained with a clever sketch gotten up in minstrel style. Those taking part were Walter Chamberlain, Harold Cahalin, Stanley Kellogg, and Patrick Furdon. There were also violin selections by Louis Patriquin, accompanied at the piano by Miss Helen Patriquin, and a dance by Miss Ethel Burt and Miss Mildred Wadman. The committee for the reunion was Miss Hazel Kimball, Walter Chamberlain and Harold Cahalin.

Robbins Memorial Town Hall was the scene of an animated and brilliant gathering on Saturday evening of last week, the occasion being the first dancing party held this season, under the auspices of the Arlington Boat Club. In spite of the bitter cold of unusual severity, something like two hundred and fifty guests were present.

The engagement of Lieut. George A. Percy, U. S. M. C., son of Dr. and Mrs. D. T. Percy of Water street, and Miss Dorothy Sewall of Bath, Maine, is announced. Lieut. Percy who is at present in the South with the marine artillery expects to be sent to France shortly.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. Clifford, Jr., announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Edith-Anne Clifford, to Lyman S. The house was decorated with gladioli and other cut flowers while talisman roses made an effective centerpiece for the tea table from which fancy sandwiches and cakes were served. The pourers were Miss Priscilla Sweet, Mrs. Warner J. Clifford, Mrs. Robert C. Clifford, and Mrs. Arthur Godbold.

Miss Clifford, whose family have long been residents of Arlington, is a graduate of Arlington High School and last June was graduated from Endicott Junior College. To Make Two Pounds Of Butter from One

Every one is interested now in making a little butter go a long way. Here is a recipe which, say those who have tried it, produces excellent results. The two pounds of butter made from one tastes just like the original pound and, what is more important, have the same nutritional value. Of course the recipe is like that for hare soup, "First catch your butter!"

1 envelope plain gelatine.
1/4 cup cold water.
1 pound butter.
1 1/2 ounce can evaporated milk or top of bottle of homeogenized milk.
Soften gelatine in 1/4 cup cold water. Dissolve thoroughly over hot water. Cut butter in small pieces and heat until soft enough to beat (do not melt). Gradually whip milk and dissolved gelatine into butter using rotary egg beater. Pack in dish and cool in refrigerator.

CHURCHES OF CHRIST, SCIENTIST

"I will take the cup of salvation, and call upon the name of the Lord. I will pay my vows unto the Lord now in the presence of all his people." These words from Psalms 116:13, 14 comprise the Golden Text to be used Sunday, January 10, in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts.

The subject of the Lesson-Sermon will be: "Sacrament." Included among the Scriptural selections will be: "Blessed are the pure in heart: for they shall see God" (Matthew 5:8).

The following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, included in the Lesson-Sermon, read as follows: "Through repentance, spiritual baptism, and regeneration, mortals put off their material beliefs and false individuality. One's aim, a point beyond faith, should be to find the footsteps of Truth, the way to health and holiness. We should strive to reach the Horeb height where God is revealed; and the cornerstone of all spiritual building is purity" (pp. 242, 241).

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

Rev. Grady D. Feagan, Ph.D., Minister

On Sunday, January 10th, the 10:30 worship service will have for theme, "How Big is Pan-America?" Pan-Americanism is now a word to conjure with. What does it really mean. The term is at once historical, geographical, military, educational, racial, idealistic, spiritual, and psychological. Where did the movement originate? How far has it actually gone? What does it promise for the future? How does it involve the work of Christ? The full choir will sing.

Church School at noon with growing classes for all ages. Dr. Franklin Hawkes, former Principal of Junior High West, will address the men. Few men on leaving Arlington have left behind so many warm friends and admirers. They will doubtless welcome this opportunity to greet him and hear him.

At 7:30 on this Sunday evening a Main Sanctuary service will be held. Mrs. J. Clark Wyman will present her Latin-American pageant just published by the Baptist denomination. Also, Dr. Chas. S. Detweiler, famous authority on Latin-America, will give us the latest front line facts on the unusual neighbors south of the Rio Grande. HOW TO CONSERVE GAS and help build a Bomber.

HOW TO CONSERVE GAS
1 Adjust burners so cooking flame is blue. Cook vegetables in small amounts of water. Keep at low temperature.
2 Heat no more water than necessary.
3 Repair leaky faucets to save water and gas.
4 Keep room temperature at about 65°.
5 Avoid heating your kitchen with your gas range oven or top burners. This is especially important on cold days.

War plans need gas — lots of it — to help build planes, ships, guns, shells, tanks and other war essentials. Demands for gas are skyrocketing. Normally we could obtain additional fuel and other materials to enlarge our gas supply and meet all needs. Today, this cannot be done.

To help keep war production lines rolling, use gas conservatively and avoid waste. Please avoid heating your kitchen with your gas range oven or top burners, especially on cold days. That's when demands for gas will be heaviest.

Carolina Boys Aid In Penny Drive

Winston-Salem, N. C.—"We want to see Mr. Morgenthau" was the demand of two youngsters to the desk clerk at the Robert E. Lee hotel here. Each boy was lugging a heavy canvas bag of pennies. "We want to turn these in to Mr. Morgenthau," they explained. "Send them right up," the Secretary of the Treasury told the clerk, and the boys were escorted to Mr. Morgenthau's room where they emptied the contents of their bags, amounting to approximately 2500 pennies. They were congratulated by the Secretary, and their pennies turned into a War Bond purchase. The Treasury is making a drive for the circulation of pennies due to the fact that no more are being minted because of the copper shortage. Pictured here with Mr. Morgenthau are the two boys, Aubrey Pegram and Freddie Hartman, carriers for the Winston-Salem, Twin City Sentinel. U. S. Treasury Dept.

DISHES you can make from COLD TURKEY

by Dorothy Greig

Hot turkey-chicken loaf made from cold turkey is appetizing supper dish.

"TREASURE every piece of turkey meat left on the frame after the Big Feast," said a friend recently. "You can do so much with cold turkey," she added. You certainly can.

That lovely turkey flavor can carry over into a truly amazing variety of hot dishes . . . and cold dishes, too. For instance, take some of the light meat and some of the dark meat of the turkey and turn it into this hot and appetizing dish for supper on a chilly night:

Turkey-Chicken Loaf

1 can new and improved condensed chicken soup
1 cup turkey
1 1/2 cups soft bread crumbs
1 tablespoon pimiento, chopped
1 tablespoon parsley, chopped
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 eggs

Strain the rice, celery and chicken from the chicken soup. Combine them with the turkey and put through the food chopper using the small blade. Then mix the turkey-chicken mixture with the soft bread crumbs, chicken broth from soup, chopped pimiento, chopped parsley, salt and eggs. Put into a greased loaf pan and bake in a moderate oven (350°) 45 to 60 minutes or until firm. Garnish with grilled apricots or grilled apple rings. Serves 4 to 5.

Note: This is good served hot or cold. If you desire the loaf to be quite firm when serving hot, add one more egg.

For luncheon this mousse is most delicious—and quite out of the orinary. Or perhaps you are giving a festive buffet supper sometime during the holiday season. Then set this proudly on the table and watch it garner you compliments. The men, especially, will enjoy its rich turkey flavor:

Turkey Mousse

2 cans new and improved condensed chicken soup
2 eggs, separated
1 1/2 tablespoons gelatine (softened in 1/4 cup water)
1 1/2 cups turkey
1/2 cup whipping cream
1/2 tablespoon lemon juice
1 cup cooked carrots, diced (pimiento could be substituted)
1 cup cooked green peas
1 cup celery, diced

Sprinkle the gelatine on the cold water and let it soften. Strain the chicken soup and heat the broth in the upper part of the double boiler. Put the turkey and the soup garnish (rice, chicken and celery) through the food chopper, using the small blade. Beat the egg yolks and add the hot broth to them, then cook 2 to 4 minutes in the double boiler. Pour this hot mixture over the softened gelatine and stir until the gelatine is dissolved. Cool and when the mixture begins to thicken add the ground turkey and rice, lemon juice, diced cooked carrots, cooked green peas and diced celery. Then fold in the beaten egg whites and whipped cream. Pour into mold and put in the refrigerator until firm. Turn out on a garnish of lettuce, watercress or chickory. Makes 10 to 12 portions.

The Most Deadly Wartime Gas

By Dr. James A. Tobey

POISONOUS gases had not added to the horrors of war during the first year of the present world conflict. It is alleged, though, that the treacherous Japs employed gas at times against our valiant allies, the hard-fighting Chinese.

We must, nevertheless, be prepared for gas attacks from our desperate enemies, who will use any uncivilized, barbaric means to gain their nefarious ends. All civilians should familiarize themselves with ways to cope with poisonous gas.

There is, moreover, one deadly gas that is always with us. It is more quickly fatal than most of the war gases. It is more insidious in its action.

This gas is carbon monoxide, the colorless, odorless vapor in the exhausts of our automobiles. It occurs also in illuminating gas, in the incomplete burning of coal and coke, and it is found in sewers, old wells, and farm silos.

If you want to live long, never make the fatal mistake of running your automobile in a closed garage. Never drive it in winter without one window partially open. Be careful about regulating your coal furnace, and watch your gas burners. Leaks are dangerous, as are open, unlit gas valves.

When carbon monoxide is breathed, it combines with the red blood cells, displacing oxygen. Only a little is required to cause loss of consciousness, and only a little more to cause death.

The first symptoms of this type of poisoning are yawning, headache, lassitude, dizziness, nausea, ringing of the ears, and heart throbs. The complexion turns cherry red.

A victim of carbon monoxide, if alive, should be gently removed to fresh air, preferably in a warm room. If unconscious, he should be given the prone pressure method of resuscitation used in cases of drowning. A doctor should be summoned and an inhalator sent for.

If the victim recovers, he needs a diet rich in iron, which makes good red blood. Best foods for the purpose are liver, egg yolk, whole wheat and enriched white breads, dried fruits, lean meats, dried beans and peas, molasses, and oatmeal.

Prevention is, as usual, better and safer than cure.
